

Contents

	Page
Authors' Preface .....	i
Dedication .....	vii
Acknowledgements .....	viii
Minute Mentor Index .....	ix
Cluster One: You .....	1
1.0 Introduction: "How Did I Get Into This?" .....	3
1.1 "And How Can I Succeed At Teaching By Really Trying?" .....	5
Cluster Two: Planning for Teaching .....	9
2.0 Introduction: Planning as a Kind of Glue .....	11
2.1 Planning a Lesson .....	12
2.2 Preparing Operational Objectives .....	25
2.3 Some More on Objectives .....	31
2.4 Introducing a Lesson .....	40
2.5 Closing a Lesson .....	51
Cluster Three: Managing Your Class and Your Classroom .....	57
3.0 Introduction: Wellness, First Aid, Triage, and Treatment .....	59
3.1 Stitches in Time: Before You Meet Your Students .....	64
3.2 More Stitches: The First Day With a Class .....	70
3.3 The First Week: Make or Break .....	76
3.4 Management on an Everyday Basis .....	81
3.5 Conforming the Non-Conformist .....	86
3.6 Conforming the Non-Conformist, Part II .....	91
3.7 Seeking and Finding Help .....	95
Cluster Four: Developing A Repertoire of Critical Skills .....	101
4.0 Introduction: Now What Do I Do? .....	103
4.1 Giving Effective Classroom Directions .....	105
4.2 Classroom Discourse: Overused and Under Planned .....	109
4.3 Questioning in the Classroom .....	116
4.4 More on Questioning: The Nitty Gritty .....	122
4.5 Reinforcement Techniques .....	127
4.6 Summarizing and Reviewing .....	132
4.7 Learning Within Smaller Groups .....	137

	page
Cluster Five: Using Instructional Resources . . . . .	145
5.0 Introduction. What Are They and Where Do They Come From . . . . .	147
5.1 The Stick in the Sand: Communicating Information . . . . .	150
5.2 Using Resources Other Than Print . . . . .	157
5.3 Instructional Technology as a Resource in Your Classroom . . . . .	163
5.4 Instructional Technology – the Newer Stuff – in Your Classroom . . . . .	169
Cluster Six: Evaluating The Outcomes Of Instruction . . . . .	179
6.0 Introduction: Evaluation as an Envelope Having Some Necessary Contents . .181	181
6.1 What?, When?, Where?, Who?, Why? and How? . . . . .	183
6.2 Assessment as a Part of the Contents of the Evaluation Envelope . . . . .	190
6.3 Evaluating the Success of a Lesson . . . . .	197
6.4 Assessing and Evaluating Over a Longer Period of Time . . . . .	204
6.5 Evaluating One’s Own Teaching . . . . .	209
Cluster Seven: The Means Of Assessment . . . . .	223
7.0 Introduction: Increasing the Potential of Your Testing . . . . .	225
7.1 Planning and Administering Conventional Tests . . . . .	228
7.2 Constructing Items Included in Conventional Testing . . . . .	234
7.3 Examples of Various Kinds of Test Items . . . . .	240
7.4 Analyzing the Performance of Test Item . . . . .	251
7.5 Alternative Means to the Traditional Style of Assessment . . . . .	257
Cluster Eight: Adding To The Repertoire . . . . .	269
8.0 Introduction: Growing – Combining Skills Into Competencies . . . . .	271
8.1 Moving From Passive to Active Learning . . . . .	273
8.2 Stimulating Higher Order Thinking by Your Students . . . . .	279
8.3 Teaching for Connectedness . . . . .	288
8.4 Integrating Material From More Than One Subject . . . . .	292
8.5 Inquiry as a Teaching Approach . . . . .	298
Cluster Nine: Looking Ahead . . . . .	307
9.0 Introduction: Professional Development – Growing as a Teacher . . . . .	309
9.1 The Second Year: a Different Teacher . . . . .	312
9.2 Working With Parents . . . . .	318
9.3 Helping Students Learn in Non-Traditional Settings . . . . .	325
9.4 Staying Up With and Even Ahead of the Curve . . . . .	331
9.5 Professional Associations and Unions . . . . .	338
9.6 A Few Words In Closing Looking Ahead . . . . .	344